I have recently moved to Berlin and still have a Russian driving license.
Yesterday, while using DriveNow on my way to office I was checked for slightly exceeding speed (36km/h in 30km/h area) and I noticed that my driving license is not with me. We agreed with policemen that I should show it to police within 10 days.

R packages are the best way to distribute R code and documentation, and, despite the impression that the official manual (Writing R Extensions) might give, they really are quite simple to create. You should make an R package even for code that you don't plan to distribute.
